Location: On Hwy. 1 at Beulah, Mississippi in Bolivar county.

The town is now located on plantation land owned by Colonel Frank A. Montgomery. Situated on the Mississippi river, where river boats landed, loaded and unloaded, eventually springing up a settlement bringing General Clark to the area where he lived. He was visited often by Mark Twain while writing "Life on the Mississippi". Beulah was the first county seat in 1866, had a Masonic Lodge, bank, church/school, merchantiles, post office and the newspaper "Bolivar Times" was edited there. Rich in history, some of the decendants of the original settlers still live in the area.

Oct. 3, 1942
June 11, 1993

We remember you in the rising of the sun and in it's going down and in the blowing of the wind and the chill of winter and the opening of the buds and in the rebirth of Spring and in the blueness of the sky and in the warmth of summer and the rustling of leaves and in the beauty of Autumn and the beginning of the year and when it ends so long as we live, you too shall live for you are apart of us, as we remember you.
