Oct. 5, 1879
When in the yellow fever
Epidemic of 1879 he heard of The distress of his friends, he came
To them offering his person and Purse. And when urgently desired
To leave the town himself remarked
What is a man worth of if he work
Not for and sympathise with his Fellow man in their stress and calamities
He stood firm at his post until death relieved him of duty.
Greater love than this hath no man that
He lay down his life for his friends.

A precious one from us is gone
A voice we love is stilled a place
Is vacant in our home what never
Can be filled. God in his wisdom
Has recalled the his love had given
And though the body moulders here
The soul is safe in heaven.

This ends the transcribing of Concordia cemetery, (of the visible markers). Due to a careless clean up effort, (burning and a backhoe) some of the headstones were broken, defaced or missing entirely. Newspaper articles can be viewed in the archives at www.bolivarcom.com, for Feb. 25, 1999. If anyone has other names, dates and history to add, please do so.
