Affair of Honor

The Columbus Argus says—“An affair of honor, took place on the Alabama State line, near this place on yesterday morning, between Hiram G. Runnels, President of the Mississippi Union Bank, and Volney E. Howard, both of Jackson this State, in which the latter was dangerously wounded in the breast—the ball having entered at a point near the right lobe and made its exit at a distance of twelve inches on the opposite side. Runnels escaped unhurt. The distance was twelve paces,—and one fire.

TO GEN. MICAHAH T. HAWKINS. SIR:—

As you have voluntarily placed yourself before the public in an attitude, that leaves us to infer that you are willing to make yourself the Scape-Goat, for the purpose of manifesting an adhesion, as unworthy the Representative of a free people as it is base—we shall take the privilege, as one of your former friends to reply.

There is a small pamphlet in circulation, in Mississippi, purporting to be signed by you and Dr. Montgomery, reiterating an old slander, repeatedly and palpably refuted to your certain knowledge.

And among the many servile slaves of Martin Van Buren, who now encumber the national councils of a once mighty republic, it wounds us to behold our native State so unfortunate as to have to acknowledge in the person of representatives two of the most unscrupulous subjects of prostitution that could have even been expected from the walks of Amos Kendall.

Perhaps you have by some means or other arrived at a proper conception of yourself and discovered your unfitness for the more noble and gentlemanly walks of life—and

Sir, slave as you are, it is not difficult for a few party leaders to flatter you into the belief that you will some day become a very great man, and they have only to point out to you the road, and like a slave you are willing to embark, however filthy the track. And in another place you have in a lame hypocritical attempt to ape the demagogue appealed to the passions of men, not one of whom in the 6th Congressional District that can read and write, but what is equal to you in point of intelligence, you dared use the following whimper:

“I only think of what would be your feelings if you were one of your poor but respectable neighbors, who had been knocked off under the Sheriff's hammer, and your Free Negro.”

Suppose, Gen. Hawkins, I called your recollection a few reminiscences of your life which you doubtless have not forgotten. It is well known to you, veyoted for you when you offered as a candidate to fill the vacancy caused by the imprisonment of Robt. Potter. It is also well known to you that your own good name was roughly handled on that occasion, and that too on a very delicate cord, you doubtless remember that you and ourself attended the election at the precinct in the county of Franklin, well known as “DUN'S PRECINCT.” A report was there circulated, very disreputable to you in private life, and it was with much difficulty that your friends could suppress the report sufficiently to give you a bare majority when under other circumstances your vote would have been two to one over your opponent.— You thought yourself beaten, and by way of revenge, endeavored to kick up a fight with a man by the name of Jacob Cooey, and did not get off until night—we came to Louisville, 14 miles together through the snow, and on the way we held a conversation on the subject.—we do not recollect of your denying of the report, but subsequently upon inquiry of several of your neighbors we found, to our mortification that there was “more truth than poetry in the rumor,” the recital of this may grate hard upon your feelings, but it is nothing more than what you have called down upon yourself. You are the last man that should pretend to manifest uneasy apprehensions in regard to the sex. And you are doubtless the most vulnerable man in Congress—such an insult to the understanding of your constituents will be met little nearer your home, and Ohio to be taken care of, but opportunities are much to be had. A small observer would not be surprised to find a circular that you had sent to you made some more to report it in your power. Now permit that on the statute books of No. State you so dishonorably representing Law exist—part of the Law grants.

“But if such persons be of all or they cannot be tried for sufficient security for the same future good behavior, in that may be lawful for said court to or offenders to receive thirty or their bare back, after which he at liberty, and the costs arising come a county charge, which is inflicted as often as the person, following twenty days between the the offence.”

And a similar law exist in the umbrella—if you wish to bring requisition your generous sympathy commence work on that.

“We advise you General in the one singular fact that in the market, are either weak and ignorantly unprincipled—such a call to the high-minded and honorable.”

And in conclusion, we will re if you set yourself up to play the will have to reap the punishment a character. One more attack that war-worn veteran will be graph from the Conservative the some trouble. we remain Yours

Sub-Treasurer

It will be seen by an extract from the Intelligencer that the sub-treasurer of Congress, and doubtless become We suppose the Congressional expectants at the “pool” of promulgated now, they have proved themselves subjects. Only think of it, a man of American Congress, voluntarily became of Kendall, who, if he had would have to wear long locks, a tioners mark. That “villein” doubtless they have secured the Buren, but they may rest assured Sub-Treasury bills could not stop lic opinion—Harrison will be elected there will be an election held.
