HOLLY SPRINGS, March 5.

We are unavoidably compelled to postpone the publication of the Bankrupt Bill, (as reported by Mr Crittenden) to a future number.

THE NEW CABINET.

The National Intelligencer states (doubtless from correct source) that, "from information, which we presume may be relied on, we have the pleasure of being able to inform our readers that, in all probability, the Cabinet of the new President, so far as depends upon him, will be thus composed:

Secretary of State—DANIEL WEBSTER, of the State of Massachusetts.

Secretary of the Treasury.—THOMAS EWING of Ohio.

Secretary of War.—JOHN BELL, of Tennessee.

Secretary of the Navy.—GEORGE E. BADGER, of North Carolina.

Postmaster Gen'l.—FRANCIS GRANGER, of New York.

Attorney General—J. J. CRITTENDEN, of Kentucky."

We are not inclined to differ materially in opinion from the above arrangement, but with one exception, the gentlemen, if called to preside over the different Departments of the President's Cabinet, are better calculated to unite and sustain the different interests of the Nation, than perhaps any other selection that could be made, and reflects much credit upon the sagacity of the new President. The appointment however, of Judge Badger, to the Navy, will, we fear fail to lay North Carolina under as deep an obligation to sustain the new Administration, as a stranger to the position which Mr Badger occupies to his fellow citizens at home, would suppose.—His great want of personal popularity, has been for many years proverbial in the Old North State.—his principles have the appearance of their paper indicates.

As we wish to file it, our friends will put us off regularly with a "clear copy."

Gen. Harrison was sixty-eight years of age on the 9th inst.—the day he entered Washington.

Inauguration suit—The Tippacano Club of Balimore have presented General Harrison with a suit of clothes to wear at his inauguration.—The cloth was manufactured at Lowell, Mass, enirely of American wool, and is of surpassing fineness.

THE WHIG REPUBLICAN.

This paper has "gone the way of all the world," the Canton Whig Advocate has also breathed its last.—Cause—the law which passed at the last session of the Legislature in regard to advertising sheriff sales—Requiescent in pace.

As the Locos wish to compromise the honor and credit of the State, by refusing to pay the State Bonds, we should like to know whether Marshall county, intends to tarnish her fair escutcheon, by parading enough of that stamp, to make a corporal's drill in November next? We shall see.

The Philadelphia Chronicle says—The excitement in the money market continues to increase, and circumstances hourly transpiring which in former times would have thrown the whole country into consternation, but which now only part of the alarming epoch of the late war. The unsettled aspect in relation to business affairs, which the events of the last few weeks have produced, suspends, and deranges, all the arrangements of our business. We know of many who were anticipating an extensive business. We know of many who are declining their usual sales, and are doing nothing ever before. From all quarters the Spring business will amount to little except cash sales, and those very few. Under the present unsettled and alarming aspect of the country, none will be disposed to extend to the West and South the same system of credit as formerly.

We have heard of several heavy losses in New York; one of them that of Christmas, Livingston and Prichard, stock speculators, and agents for Canadian and British Banks.

It is also rumoured that an embezzlement has been discovered in the States Bank; but we doubt the truth of the statement.

The correspondent of the American gives the following particulars of the visit of General Harrison to the Houses of Congress.

WASHINGTON, 1st March. Gen. Harrison this morning visited the two Houses of Congress, and was received with marked attention in both. Administration members were foremost in attention to the distinguished man, who will be at the head of the Nation. Benton came forward with many expressions of respect, but not the Ohio Senators.

The Vice President received Gen. Harrison in a most friendly manner with great cordiality, and the President elect remained sometime in the room of the Vice President.
