and are either shame-burgling, in the report of Mr. Stealy the resident engineer on the Kentucky river to the Legislature of that State, that in building the different locks and dams on that river bones, of the Mammoth have been found in great numbers.

They were never found less than one hundred feet from the edge of the water, and always at least fifty feet below the surface of the earth.
They have doubtless been mouldering in their resting places for many centuries. Some of the huge tusks and teeth have been preserved.

Real men and women never sneer at mechanics and operatives. But self styled gentlemen and ladies not unfrequently do. We have heard of a lady who once left a ball-room because a mechanic entered. She married a basket maker, and died a wash woman. And of a gentleman who did the same thing, and not long afterwards was compelled to go to a mechanic to be saved from jail. Labor not only redounds to wealth, but merit. "Six days shalt thou labor," saith the scripture.—Rochester Advertiser.

The heart of man is said to weigh about nine ounces, that of a woman eight. As age increases man's heart grows heavier—woman's lighter after she is thirty.

When Gen Jackson left the Presidential chair he declared that "he left the people prosperous and happy." The New York Evening Post affirms that "Mr. Van Buren came into office at a period of unexampled embarrassment."

The Locofocos of Georgia are now using against the Whigs the fact that the late Whig Legislature enacted that banks should resume specie payment.

QUESTION BY A SOPHIST.—Over a certain river there is a bridge, and at one end of the bridge a gallows and at the other a house of Judicature, with four Judges who pass the following law: "Whoever passes over this bridge must first take an oath and swear where he is going, and what is his business; if he swear the truth he shall go free; but if he swear falsely he shall be hanged on the gallows." Now a certain man taking the oath swore that he was going to be hanged on the gallows; and that was his business and no other. "Now," said the judges, "if we let this man go free, he swears a lie, and by the law ought to be hanged—while if we hang him he swears the truth and by the same law he ought to go free."

How shall they proceed with this man according to this law, or what will be a just verdict?

it is a fact not generally known but well worthy the attention of those who intend trying a married life, that there never yet was an instance of happiness being enjoyed by a couple who failed to pay the priest's fees. The oldest types assure us that in all such cases, either the husband becomes a drunkard & beats the wife, or else the lady turns courtesan and uses the broomstick with the wrong end foremost.
