Latest accounts from Utica state that the excitement there increases as McLeod's trial approaches, and that should he be acquitted, there will not be bay onets enough at the command of the State or General Government to protect him. There is said to be a band of desperate men-probably Canadian refugees-who have bound themselves by the most borrid oaths not to permit McLeod to return to Canada alive.

A letter in the Boston Atlas, dated, St. Albans, Sept. 23, gives the following account of a high handed step by the Canadians:

It appears from depositions taken in the case before the proper authorities, that the dwelling house of Wm. Brown, of Alburgh, was broken open and entered by a gang of armed men, in the uniform of British soldiers, about three o'clock on the morning of the 20th Sept.; that said W.m. Brown was awalkened from his sleep by a noisy rush of men into a bed room adjoining the room where he and his wife were sleeping; that said Brown, calling to his sons and giving the alarm, was met at the door of his room by a span armed with a gun and bayonet, who threatened to shoot him if he made the least noise; that the remainder of the party, conspiting of twelve or more, rushed into the adjoining apartment, where was sleeping James W. Grogan, and cried out as they entered. "Here he is!"-"shoot him!-blow his brains ont!" that they seized said Grogan and dragged him from his bed and from the house, after gagging him, and thrust him into a wagon, which was at a convenient distance from the house, and drove off towards Canada.

Another deponent testifies that on Monday, about II o'clock. A. M. he met the same wagon and the same driver, whom he had seen the night before, with Grogen and four armed British dragoons, and four more drag oons mounted, who rode near the wagon, and were on their way from Olarenceville, in Ganada, towards Mississqui Bay Village.— Gol. Grogan was badly wounded, and almost entirely naked.

NEW STATE.—The Huntingdon Advertiser, proposes to form a new State, by adding the northern portion of the State of Mississippicand the part of Kentucky which which place, after having lost by death the wife of his youth, and his eldest son, he emigrated to Tennessee, where he arrived in 1826 -- He continued his residence here, until the fatal disease fixed his spirit from the turmoils, of earth; his mortal remains were deposited by weeping kindred and friends, in their last resting place, at Springhill near Nashville, where they await the summons of the last trumpet-Fully aware of his approaching end, he sunk composed and resigned to the tomb, in the perfect exercise of all his mental faculties.—He left to lament his departure several sons and daughters, and numerous grandchi'dren, with a large circle of other relatives and friends, in Virginia, and many other parts of the United States. . He lived to see the country for whose liberties he had faced the cannon's mouth, prosperous and happy, and died beloved and respected by all who knew him.
