

ocracy of the State. They will be true to their principles and themselves. We wish the Advertiser great luck.

We learn that DAVID JARNIGAN, of Fayette county, Ten., was killed in a rencounter last week by his son-in-law just married, a man by the name of Morgan. The marriage took place against the father's wish, at his house, during his absence, which was, we understand, the cause of this unhappy occurrence.

For the Guard.

THE SLANDERER.

"I hate his poisonous breath,
I hate him for his horrid lies—
More deadly than the dew of death—
His peace desroying calumnies.
"His heart is gall—his tongue is fire,
His soul too base for generous ire.

The primary object of the slanderer is, generally, to injure or destroy the reputation of the person slandered, to lessen him in the estimation of others.

We frequently hear the character of the virtuous and the worthy traduced in the basest manner, by the foul tongue of the vile slanderer, who is too cowardly to meet the object of his own resentment face to face, and thus vents his malice by deluging the ears of the private circle, around the fire side and among his acquaintance, with the tales of reckless calumny and detraction. Almost every department of society is tainted with his pestilential vapor, and mingled in his contaminations. From the grey headed politician to the little boy, from the ancient maiden to the lisping miss, slander and detraction range with appalling strides.

Discord, strife, contention and variance among neighbors, the name of friendship annihilated where it has long existed, and friends changed to bitterness and enmity, and in short, a great part of the discord in society, are the the deadly effects of this demoniac vice, the bane of social intercourse, slander.

What is dearer to a person than his reputation? You take from a man his reputation, his good name, among his fellow men, you take his all so far as this life is concerned. Here is where the slanderer aims his deadly arrows, here he commences his deeds of darkness, here he accomplishes his evil designs—his ignominious purposes. What ray of comfort can be found to cheer one's path through this world of trouble, when that which is as dear to him as vitality itself, has been torn from him by the ruthless hand of this demon of Pluto, the slanderer!

His heart is gall, his tongue is fire,
His soul too base for generous ire!"

SHUCKS.

OXFORD, Mi.

The N. O. Bee of the 30th ult. represents the Cotton and Tobacco markets as exhibiting unusual animation. Large sales had taken place. On the 26th 5,500 bales changed hands. On the 26th 8,000 bales were disposed of. One list of 2,700 bales at 8 1/2 cents.—Appeal by the Legislature on the very eve of its adjournment.—Columbus Democrat

A CARD.

The Ladies of Holly Springs and vicinity will prepare a Supper, to be taken at the Female Institute on Friday eve, 15th inst. Its object is to raise 150 or 200 dollars for the payment of a debt contracted in the building of the Presbyterian Church of this place. The occasion will, also, be enlivened with music on the Piano Forte by several young Ladies, under the superintendence of J. F. GONEKE. Patronage, in aid of this benevolent effort of the Ladies, is very respectfully invited.—Tickets, for Gentlemen $1—for Ladies 50 cents, to be had at Messrs. Mason & Keeling, John B. Day's and D. B. Maloy's Stores.

MARRIED

In Washington County, Miss., on the 1st day of March last, by A. Smith, Esq., Mr. J. M. POWELL to Miss CORDELIA A. PENRICE.

MARRIED—On Thursday evening the 21st of March, by Rev. James Weatherby, at the residence of the bride's father, in this county, Mr. JOHN M. GLOVER to Miss CASSANDRA H. COWGER.

Another link to wedded bliss,
Two loving hearts have given;
Oh may their days be happiness,
As when their love's first nuptial kiss
Breathed foretaste joy of Heaven.

Dollar Democrat.

Communicated.

OBITUARY.

Departed this life on the 30th march 1842, near North mt. Pleasant marshall county mis., ELIJAH LUMSDEN. MR. Lumsden had passed the storms of 80 winters; he was at the siege of Ninety-six under general Green. He had lived until he could say in the language of the poet, "I am not of this people nor of this age." mr. Lumsden died as he had always lived an honest man and a christian. He has left a large and a respectable family together with many friends to lament his death. Blessed are they that die in the Lord, from henceforth, yea saith the spirit that they may rest from their labors, and their works do follow them. J. C. B.

OBITUARY NOTICE.

Departed this life at Pontotoc Miss. on Thursday morning, March 31st. 1842, in the confident hope of a blessed immortality, Malinda D. consort of William McQuiston and eldest daughter of Solomon and Sarah Clark, aged 22 years and five months. In the death of this excellent woman our society has lost one of its brightest ornaments, their relatives a worthy and endeared member, and the partner of her bosom, an affectionate wife. Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord.

who may apprehend on the United States of Am Rogers: And I do hereby officers of this State, bot aid and assist in bringin gers to answer the charg Given under my hand L. S: the State, at the eighteenth day of March

By the Governor,
LEWIS G. GALLOWAY
William Rogers is re five or forty years of age made, that his weight is fifty pounds, that he ha whisky, is slow in conv when under the influenc versing, uses gestures an Jackson, March 25, 18

A LIST OF LETTI
Post Office at No 1st day of April, 1842.
Alexander Milton.

Benton B 2; Butler James, Beacham Calvin; Brittenaim I Mrs A R.

Carroll Ab. 2; Chamberlair Crawford Mary; Carrington A Coopwood J M; Cox Mrs Nat

Dickey Sophia, Garrison F Hartin Wm, Hartin Mrs N;

Johnson D H 2, Jones D; Jordan J E. Knox J R 3, Kanady 2; Kil Linza W A; Lusk J E; Lea Moore M 2; McClenden J Mahon J.

Poik Andrew; Poulk J; Po Saynders W L; Sorrels N Shackleford J C.

Thompson M 2; Tarbatton Tilghman S 2, Young J K, Woods G W.

N. Mt. Pleasant, mi. April 1

NEW ORLEANS PI

- Sugar, Louisiana, new.
- do Havana white,
- do do brown,
- Molasses,
- Pork, mess, $9.00 a
- do prime, 7.25 a
- Bacon, hams,
- do do canvassed,
- do do shoulders,
- Lard,
- Flour, $5.37 a
- Coffee, Havanah green,
- do Rio,
- do Java,
- Whiskey, rectified,
- do common,
- Salt, Liv'l coarse, $1.75
- do do fine, 2.00
- do Turks Island, 0.90
- Bagging, Kentucky,
- do India,
- do Scotch,
- do Jamaican,
- Bale Rope, Kentucky,
- do Northern